

REASON

---

I have chosen this scene because it's part of one of my favorite films. It's also my favorite clip of it because it's very funny, I laugh a lot. I consider it's very well done and also the thespians are hilarious. I don't think it's an overrated movie because, from my point of view, the script, the performances of the thespians and the music, that it's a very important thing, form a perfect combination. Talking about the music, I think it's an excellent choice because it brings the name of the film, in other words, when you hear the music in any place, you will know that it's from this film. I also have to mention that the quality of the film doesn't have a high-quality but taking into account the time, it is not terrible.
